DETAILED ACTION

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mattiola et al. in view of Niedwiecki et al.

The Mattiola et al. reference discloses a system for inspecting, evacuating, vaporizing and compressing a gas such as oxygen into gas cylinders, but doesn't disclose the concept of transporting the system to the site of filling. However, the Niedwiecki et al. reference discloses another "mobile gas canister transfilling station" wherein the system is transported to the site of filling. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Mattiola et al. system by making it mobile in view of the teachings of the Niedwiecki et al. reference in order to simplify the refilling of gas cylinders or vehicles for the end user by bringing the product to the site of filling.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 1/22/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the Applicant's argument that Niedwiecki does not teach the use of a vaporizer, or that the vaporizer can be loaded onto the station to make it portable, see the rejection above and the following. The examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Niedwiecki merely teaches the concept of making a refueling station mobile to supply fuel to an end user at remote locations. Whether or not Niedwiecki teaches the use of a vaporizer is irrelevant, since the base reference, Mattiola, includes a vaporizer and all other claimed structure.

In response to the Applicant's argument that it would be impractical to make the Mattiola system mobile because of its automation and vast amounts of equipment, see the following. Niedwiecki not only has a mobilized and automated system but also has vast amounts of equipment placed on a trailer. The equipment includes an electrolyzer, a heat exchanger, a single or dual compressor subsystem, storage tanks, a system controller (microprocessor), vent stacks, sensors, motor drive and piping. Automation would not be lost as shown by the Niedwiecki system being controlled by the microprocessor 400 and the size of the trailer is irrelevant, since Niedwiecki teaches the basic concept of mobilizing a fueling system that has a comparable amount of equipment to that of the Mattiola system.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
